The Greene Turtle-Columbia helps family raise $12,400 for Childhood Neuroblastoma Cancer Foundation

Columbia, MD: The Greene Turtle in Columbia announced that their latest fundraising event raised $12,400 to support a local family and the Childhood Neuroblastoma Cancer Foundation.

Jackie and Brian Brewer, both The Greene Turtle Columbia employees, helped organize the event to raise money for Dave and Jen Brewer's daughter Sarah. Sarah, Brian and Jackie's 18-month-old niece, suffers from the childhood cancer Neuroblastoma.

The money helped pay some of the Brewer's medical bills and allowed them to make a donation to the non-government funded Childhood Neuroblastoma Cancer Foundation.

The money was raised through raffles, donations and a silent auction. The Greene Turtle Columbia also donated 10% of their day's revenue, which totaled more than $1,000.

The Greene Turtle Sports Bar and Grille has been an area tradition since opening in Ocean City in 1976. They host similar fundraising events at their other 18 locations in Maryland, Delaware and D.C. in a program called Funds for Friends.
